

AMERICAN STUDIES FALL 2025 COURSES

WHAT IS AMERICAN STUDIES?

Our courses explore American cultural life, past and present, with the goal of helping students better understand their experiences and society. Topics include race, immigration, gender, sexuality, popular culture, film, literature, technology, fashion, family dynamics, mental health, civil rights, and more. We examine these subjects from various interdisciplinary and diverse perspectives, providing students with a comprehensive view of American culture.

American Studies faculty are engaged, award-winning teacher-scholars who bring diverse, interdisciplinary perspectives to the classroom. Our courses encourage students to analyze and interpret a wide range of sources, including novels, films, music, social media, and visual arts. Students will engage with the latest scholarship in the field while developing critical thinking and communication skills in both writing and speech.

What Can I do with an American Studies Degree?

An American Studies degree provides a strong liberal arts education and develops skills in writing, analysis, and connecting diverse ideas. Graduates find careers in business, communications, government, law, social services, and teaching, and other fields. The degree also prepares students for graduate work in related fields.

Interested in an American Studies Major, Double Major, or Minor?

American Studies is a great degree on its own or as a double major or minor, complementing fields like African American Studies, Art, Music, Theater, Asian American Studies, Chicana/o Studies, Communications, Criminal, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Justice, History, Human Services, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology and others.
